

LAW O R K S

EDUCATION LAW INSTITUTE

August 18 and 19, 2005

OISE/UT ■ 252 Bloor St. West
Toronto, Ontario

SPONSORED BY:

The landscape of Ontario education has grown ever more complex. Educational leaders must respond to an increasingly diverse array of issues and problems from the school, district and community-wide perspective. A clear and up to date understanding of the framework of provincial and federal laws and of recent jurisprudence related to education and schools is a must for every effective administrator.

The title of this Institute, LAW is an apt one. Its design is unique.

WORKS

Like many other executive programs, a case study method will be used. Specific sessions will provide participants with actual cases from educational experience and structured time to reflect, dialogue and design responses to these dilemmas. Participants will apply current education law and regulations. These sessions will be led and facilitated by joint teams of education law experts and system and school-based practitioners. In addition to these specialized sessions, participants will be updated on relevant and recent developments through executive summary workshops. Panel discussions and plenary presentations provide additional participant learning opportunities. Participant dialogue time will provide new networking opportunities.

Keynote Presentations

- The Impact of Interactive Thinking – A Key to Effective Problem-Solving
Dean Roger Martin, Rotman School of Management, University of Toronto
- Towards a Safe and Effective Learning Environment – The Delicate Balance of Rights and Order in Schools
A. Wayne MacKay, Professor, Dalhousie Law School
